How to use Lot/Batch number?

Give each incoming lot or batch its own number and expiry, then trace stock and sales back to it.

How to use lot and batch numbers

1. Enable lot and batch tracking for the product before you receive stock.
2. When you add a purchase, enter the lot or batch number and the expiry date for each line.
3. Smart POS stores the batch against that stock, so every sale can be traced back to its batch.
4. Use the batch report to see how much of each lot is left and when it expires.
5. When a batch is recalled or expires, find every sale from that batch in one search.

Tip: Use the same batch number the supplier prints on the carton — it makes matching deliveries and recalls much faster.
