Selling Price Groups

Selling price groups let you sell the same product at different prices to different customers, for example a retail price for walk-in customers and a lower wholesale price for bulk buyers. Smart POS applies the right price automatically once the customer and their price group are set.

Selling price groups

1. Go to the selling price group settings in Smart POS and create a new price group, such as Wholesale or Retail, with a clear name.
2. Open a product and set a different selling price for the new price group, keeping the default price for other customers.
3. Assign the price group to the customers who should get it, from their contact record or customer group settings.
4. At the POS screen, select the customer before adding products, so Smart POS uses the prices from their price group.
5. Complete a test sale and check the invoice to confirm the group prices were applied correctly.

Tip: Always select the customer at the POS screen before adding items, or the default selling price will be used instead of the group price.
